

ABSTRACT

A method for cleaning a surface is described, which includes wiping a surface with a wet product and also with a dry product. The method may be facilitated by providing instructions to clean a surface with a wet product and a dry product, and the instructions may be conveniently provided with a wet wiping product and/or a dry wiping product.